EARTH EXPLORE Leader Overview

For complete leader information, go online and click on the teacher start here link. Also refer to printed materials supplied to all enrolled leaders.

How it works:

If you love to travel and learn new things, if you enjoy seeing kids grow, and you thrive in the “outdoor classroom”, you may be a great leader on one of our programs.

We invite you to apply for a Leader position individually, or with a colleague. Expect to form amazing bonds with your students, and return to the classroom with new ideas, energy and techniques. Experience an adventure in learning that you’ll never forget.

What Our Leaders Do:

1. Share the Program:

We provide everything. Simply pass out promotional materials to your students and families in your school or school district. Share the program with a fellow teacher and organize a group together. You may choose to hold a Parent Information Meeting and invite students to enroll.

2. Conduct Preparation Meetings:

These fun sessions allow students and parents to get to know the Leaders and each other. Earth Explore will provide all Leaders with a travel and program preparation binder. Students will also receive various materials by mail for use during the meetings and at home.

3. Chaperone Students:

Our Leaders serve as attentive and trusted chaperones. The on-site teaching and educational enrichment is handled by our partners, naturalists and guides. Each group will be joined by a Travel Manager, who will handle logistical details during the program. Earth Explore will supply a Leader Handbook detailing travel expectations, responsibilities and policies for all participants. In addition, Earth Explore will provide all necessary travel details well before departure.

4. Credit and other details: Our teachers assist students who are taking the program for academic credit, by completing a Leader Evaluation Form upon the program’s conclusion. Many of our groups become so close that they schedule a reunion meeting to share pictures, and memories.
